

DARKSOFT
EVERYDAYNESS

Written and recorded by Darksoft

Made by a human using real instruments

Mixed and mastered by Brian Fisher
Album artwork by Jameson Martin

Track 7 “Irons In The Fire”
featuring Lauren Lakis

Track 5 “As Above So Below” featuring Sandy

Self-released via Look Up Records
LUR-022

© 2026 Darksoft

www.darksoft.band @darks0ft
darksoftband@gmail.com

TRACK LIST
10 SONGS, 10 CYCLES

1. Spend Your Days 3:52
2. Too Little Too Late 3:44
3. Constant Change 3:40
4. Rinse And Repeat 4:22
5. As Above So Below 3:49
6. Same Ol Same Ol 3:56
7. Irons In The Fire 3:44
8. Grain Of Salt 3:40
9. No News Is Good News 3:22
10. Stop And Go 5:48

ABOUT EVERYDAYNESS
ARTIST STATEMENT

Overall, the goal of Everydayness is to find beauty in the mundane.

Everydayness is built from the everyday. It's rooted in physical reality, it's nothing new, it's repetitive, it's more of the same. I literally got the name from a shampoo bottle.

The album artwork for Everydayness features an analemma – an infinity symbol created by photographing the sun from the same spot over the course of a year. Like the artwork, the album ponders the cyclical nature of life and day-to-day routines.

The songs in this album cover a sort of absent-minded everydayness that we all experience as we go through life. We wake, we drink something, we eat, we go somewhere, we work, we rest, and then we repeat.

Others are a reflection of the 'always on' attitude. The clocked-in work life, the gears churning, having multiple irons in the fire, and all the endless side-hustling in the modern world.

Some moments open up to a higher state of living day-to-day with more purpose and intention. That's more in line with a meta theme I want to impart:

I hope Everydayness leaves the listener with more validation that your existence matters, even when you're in autopilot mode. I hope it can provide more agency for the things you can control in your life, and inspire you to shape your day-to-day into whatever you desire over time.

Seize the everydayness,

– Darksoft

SPEND YOUR DAYS
TRACK 1

How you spend your days
Is how you spend your life
Days are long years are short
Time runs out so make it count

Spend your days
Spend your days

How you spend your time
Is how you live your life
Seasons come seasons go
Rivers run dry you know

Spend your days
Spend your days

Where you go in your mind
Is where you live most the time
Days are lost until you know
To feel the sun before it goes

Spend your days
Or they'll drift away
Spend your days
Spend your days

TOO LITTLE TOO LATE

TRACK 2

Too little too late
To make a dent
That ship has sailed
The moment's gone

Some things get lost
Couldn't if you tried
Dreams fill your day
Then they drift away

One beat too slow
Timing is everything
Too late to speak
Now words don't mean a thing

CONSTANT CHANGE
TRACK 3

The only thing that stays the same
Is constant change from day to day

You light a fire to blow it out
We're building up to break it down

Seasons come seasons go
Same ol same constant change

Another spin of the wheel
And nothing can stop these gears

Wake up clock in World keeps turning

Constant change
The only thing that stays the same

RINSE AND REPEAT
TRACK 4

Rinse and repeat
Day after day
You love the sound
That comes around
Whatever keeps it goin

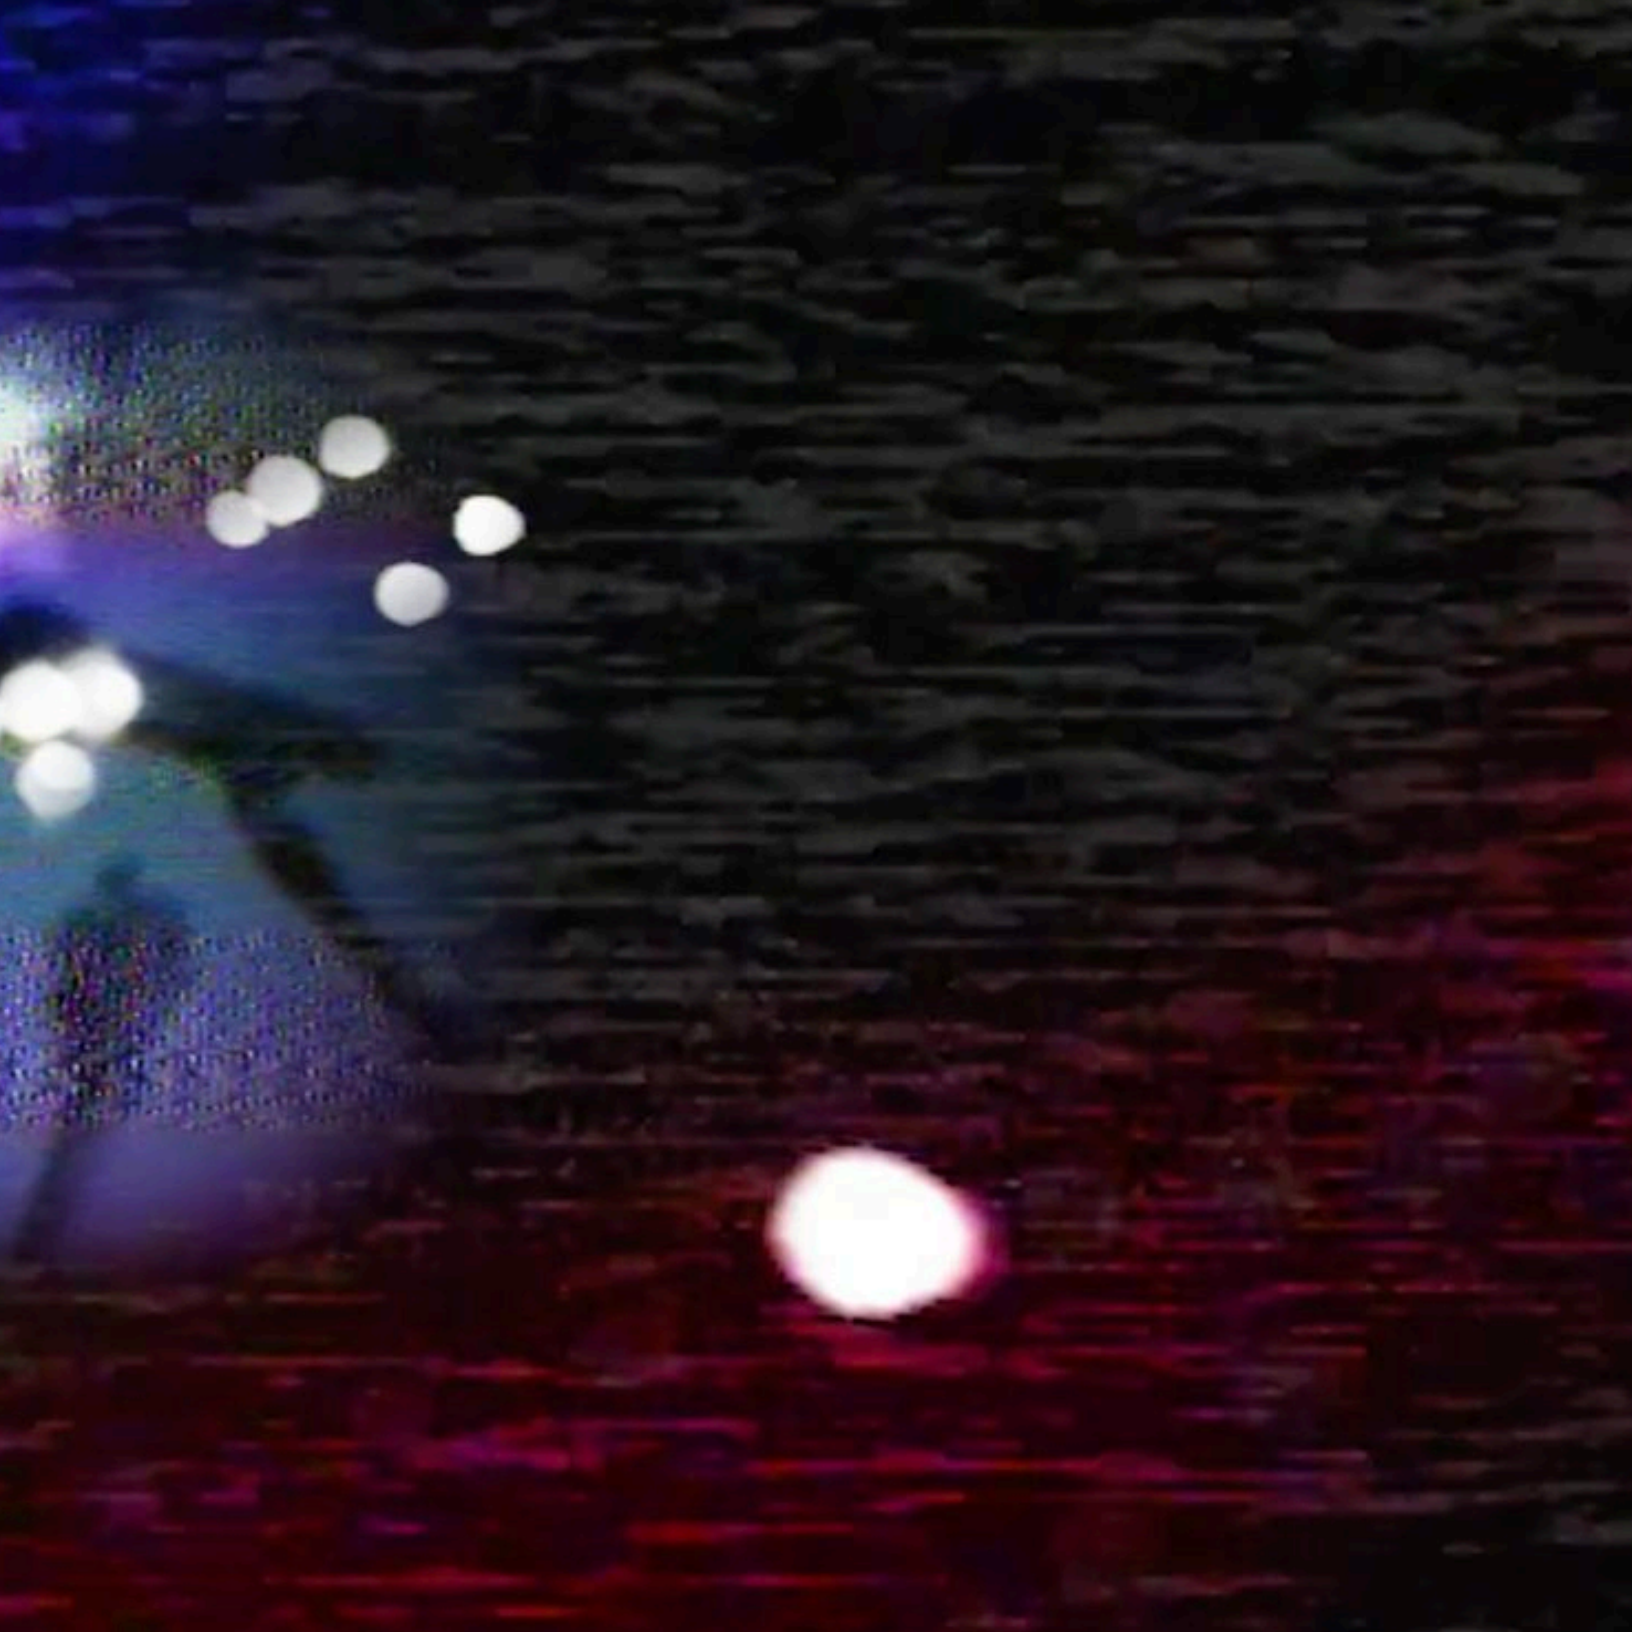

Rinse and repeat
Rinse and repeat

Lost in a groove
Your daily grind
Same old tune
Playin through
It's what keeps you tickin

Rinse and repeat
Rinse and repeat

Another day
Another dollar
Familiar face
Caught in the race
Something keeps you runnin

Rinse and repeat
Rinse and repeat

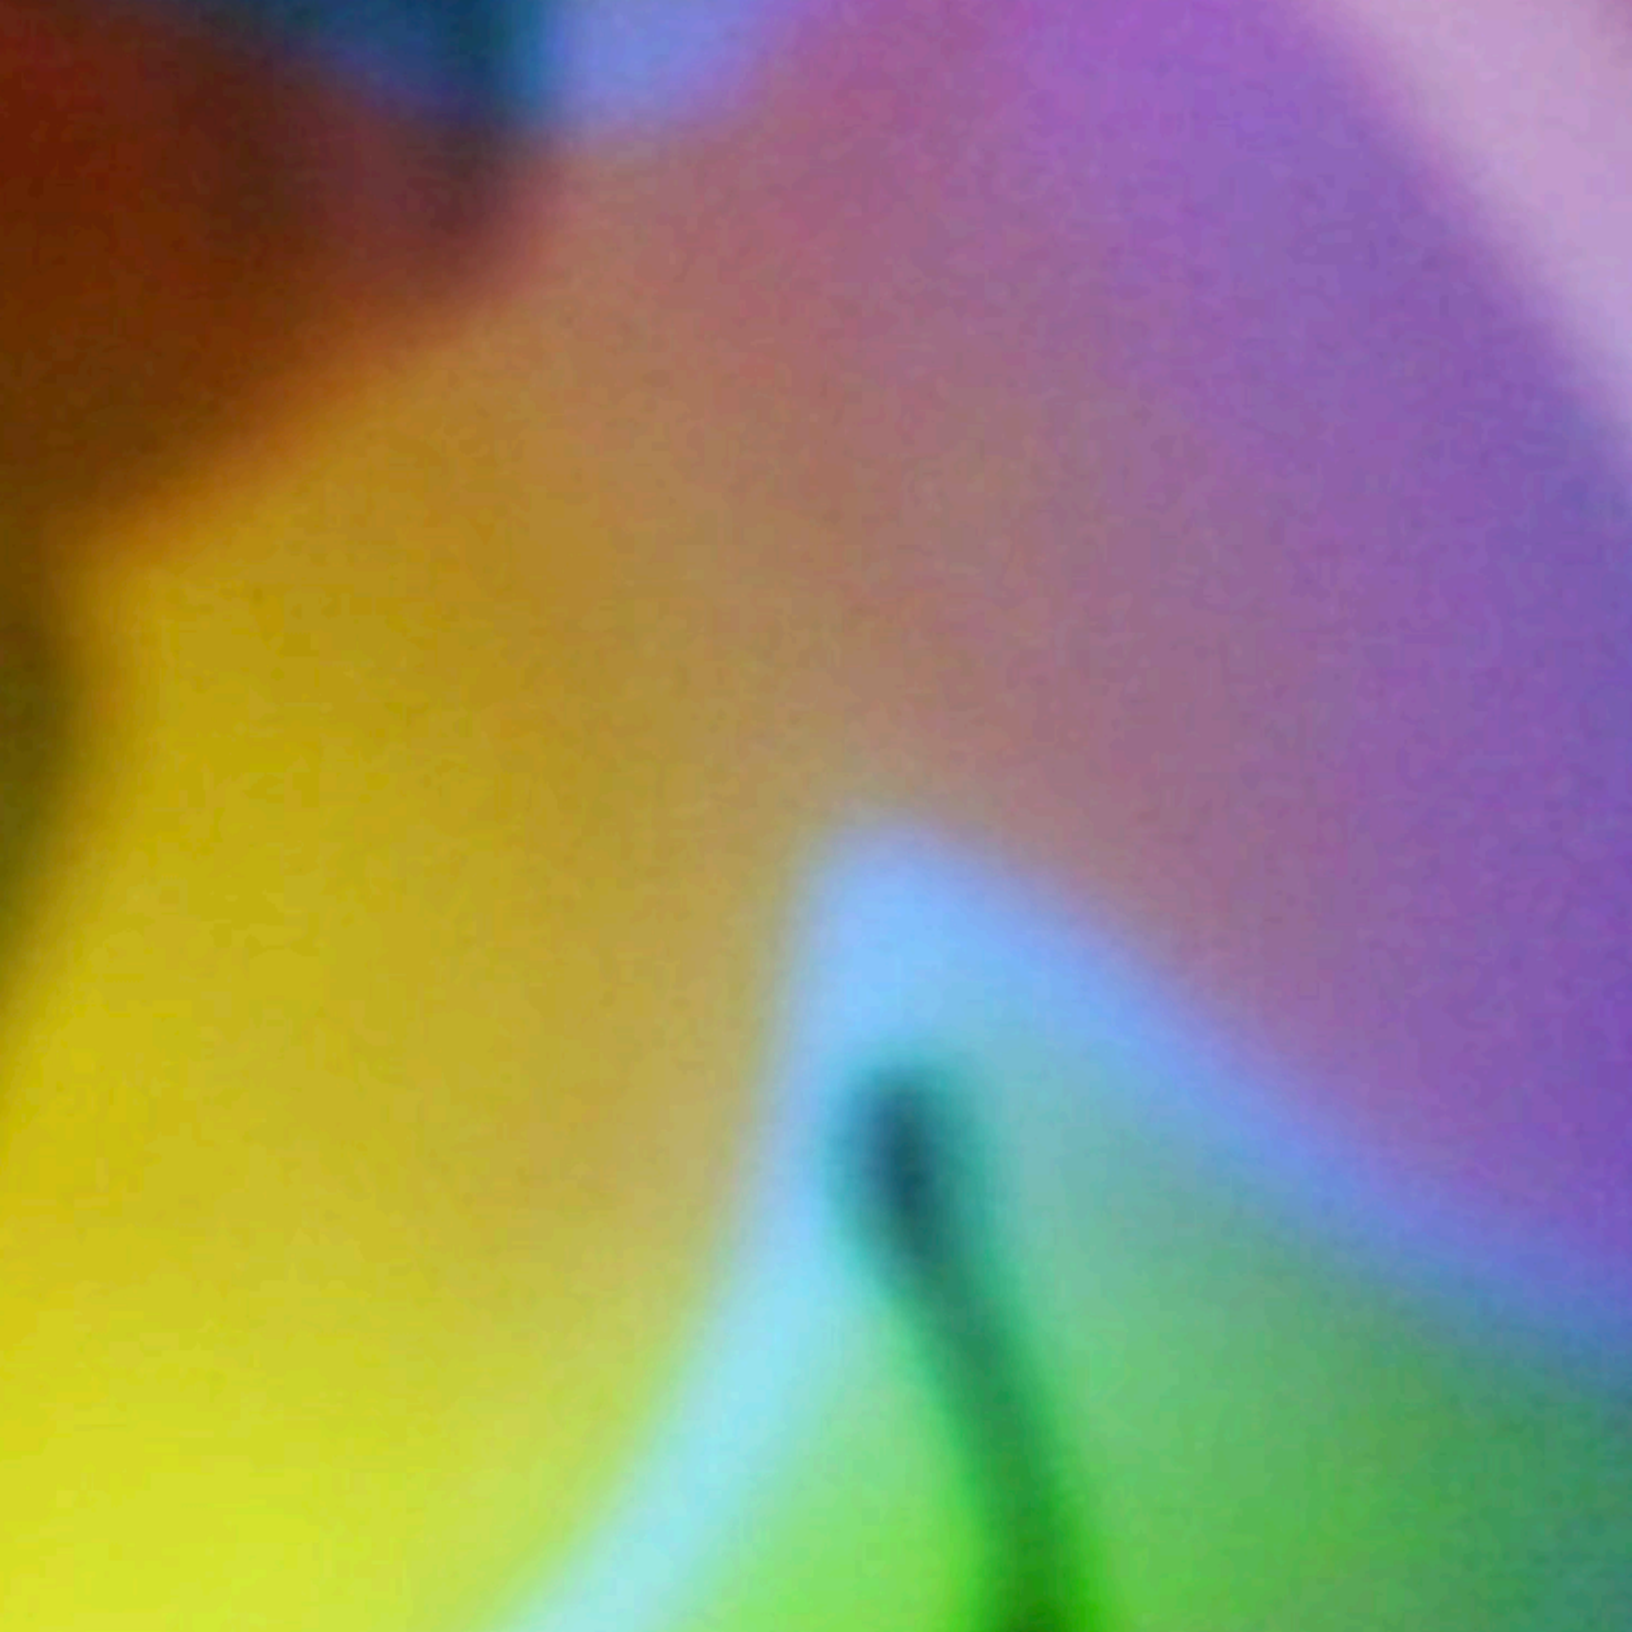

AS ABOVE SO BELOW
TRACK 5

As above so below
You reap what you sow

The more things change they stay the same
Different day same story

History repeats itself
Nothing new under the sun

As within so without
What goes up must come down

SAME OL SAME OL

TRACK 6

Nothing new Just the usual
Same routine
Repeat repeat repeat

Same ol same
Can’t complain
Skies of blue
Caught in a loop
A loop a loop a loop

Nothing much
Same ol stuff
Eat sleep repeat
Delete delete delete

IRONS IN THE FIRE

TRACK 7

Burning candles
At both ends
No rest for the wicked

Irons in the fire
Irons in the fire

New face each day
Wearing many hats
You've got so much
Going on at once

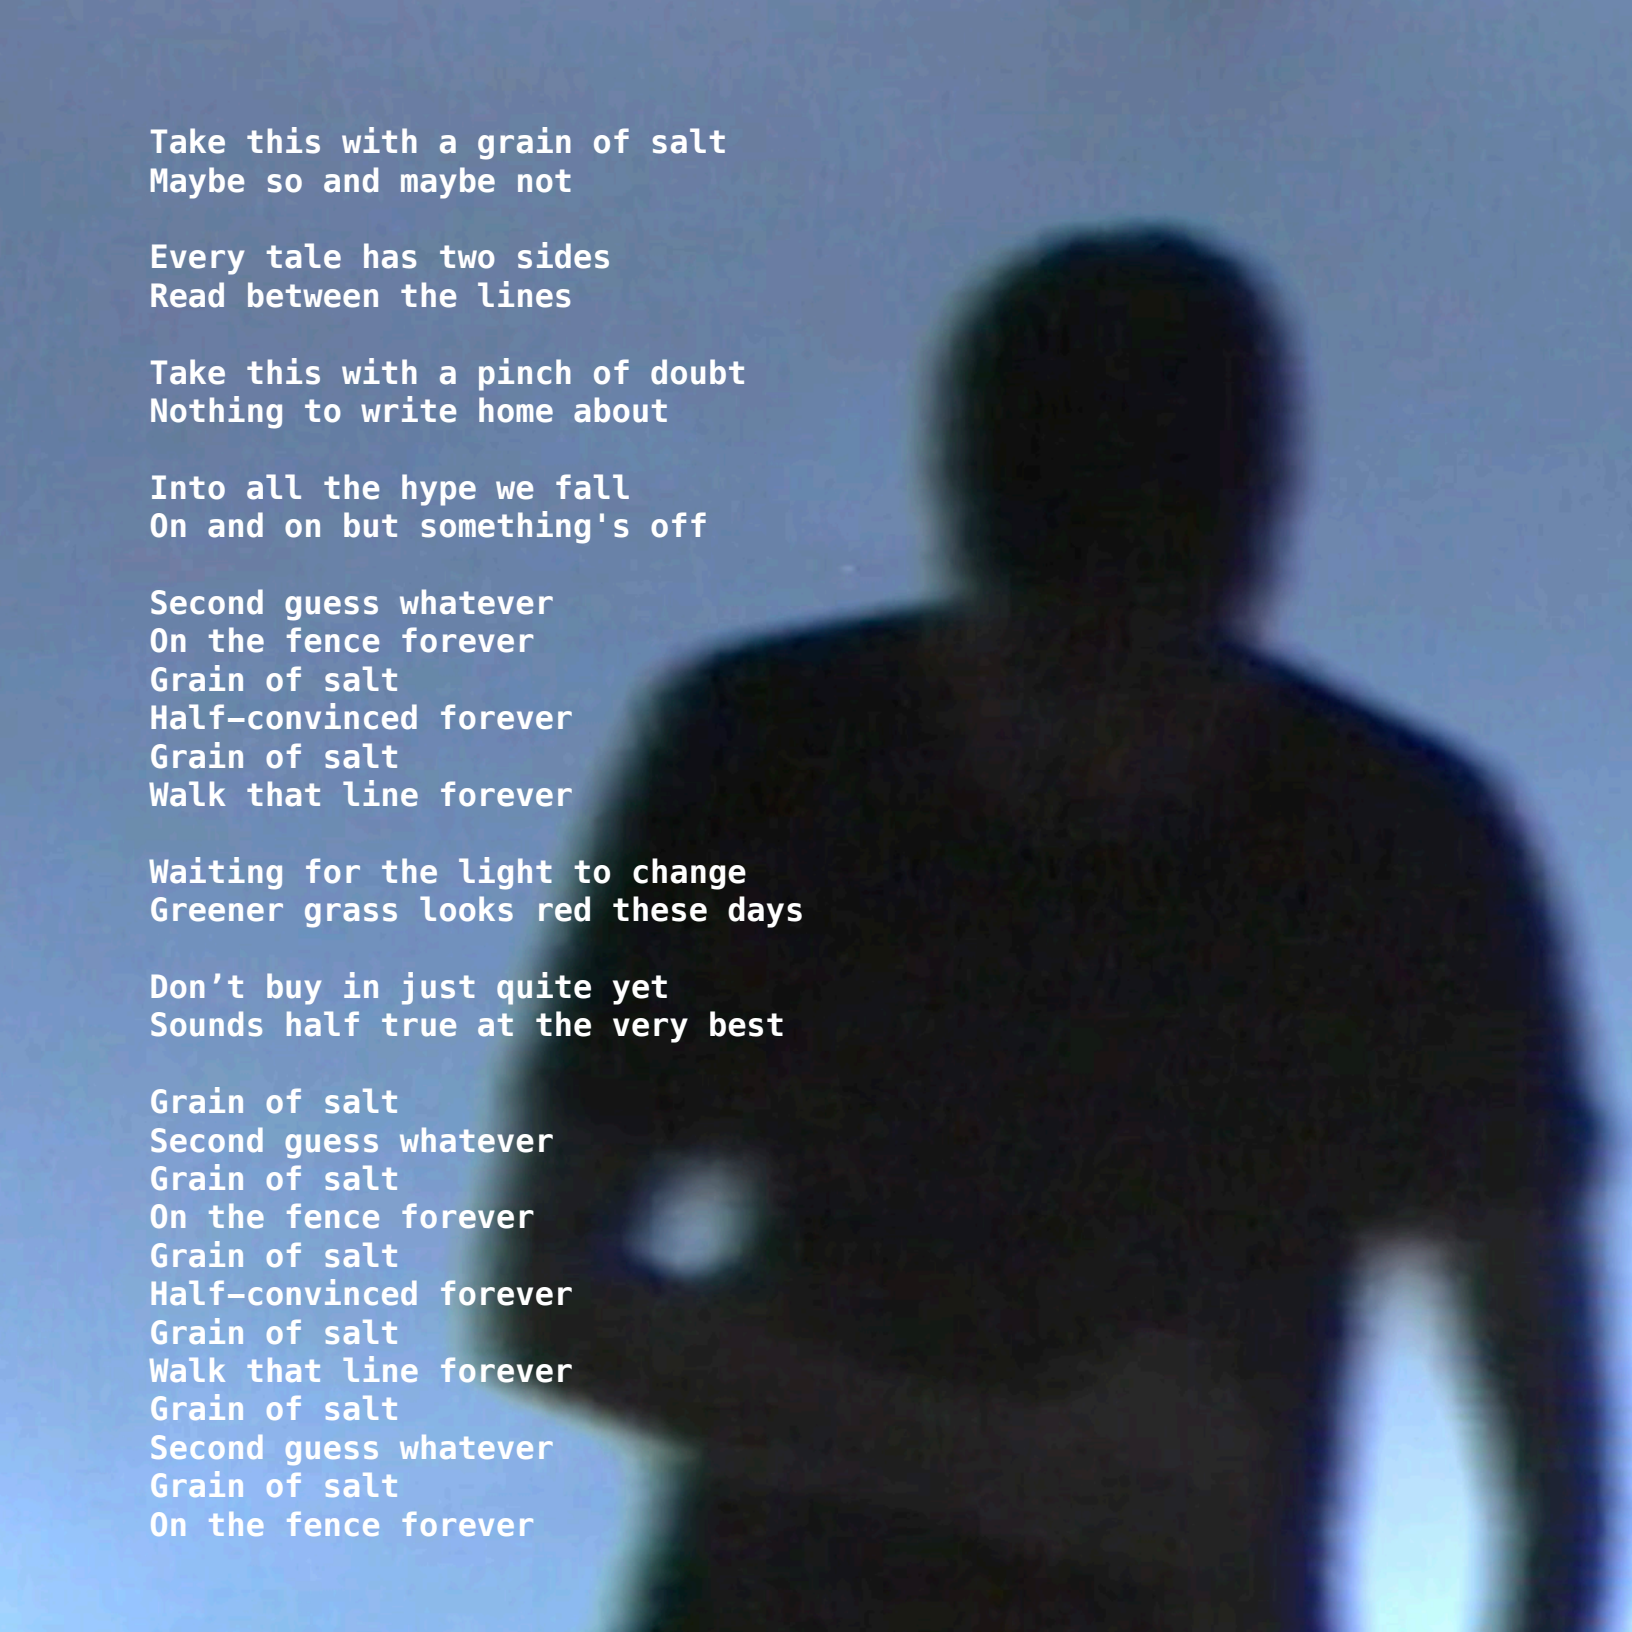

Irons in the fire
Irons in the fire

Sign in sign out
Juggling profiles
You're a jack of all trades
Got a full plate

Irons in the fire
Irons in the fire
Irons in the fire
Irons in the fire

GRAIN OF SALT
TRACK 8

Take this with a grain of salt
Maybe so and maybe not

Every tale has two sides
Read between the lines

Take this with a pinch of doubt
Nothing to write home about

Into all the hype we fall
On and on but something's off

Second guess whatever
On the fence forever
Grain of salt
Half-convinced forever
Grain of salt
Walk that line forever

Waiting for the light to change
Greener grass looks red these days

Don’t buy in just quite yet
Sounds half true at the very best

Grain of salt
Second guess whatever
Grain of salt
On the fence forever
Grain of salt
Half-convinced forever
Grain of salt
Walk that line forever
Grain of salt
Second guess whatever
Grain of salt
On the fence forever

NO NEWS IS GOOD NEWS

TRACK 9

for Esme River
Artwork by Fiona Zuzu

No news is good news
So far so good
No need to worry
Without a story

No news is good news
No news is good news
So far so good
No news is good news

Smooth sailing
Day out and day in
For now it's all good
Knock on wood

No news is good news
No news is good news
So far so good
No news is good news

Nothing's a good sign
Let sleeping dogs lie
All under control
Business as usual

No news is good news
No news is good news
So far so good
No news is good news

STOP AND GO
TRACK 10

Stop and go
These days are moving slow
Push and pull
Caught in the middle

Stop and go
Stop and go

Back and forth
Those hours you spin your wheels
Hurry up and wait
Restart and hit the brakes

Stop and go
Stop and go

Fade in fade out
The current takes control
You rise with the tide
Fall back to the same old shore

Stop and go
Stop and go, and go

GEAR NOTES
RECORDING EVERYDAYNESS

Everydayness was recorded by Darksoft over the course of about a year, from November 2024 through December 2025.

All parts were written, performed, and multitracked in a small home studio in Maine. Some parts were later re-amped during mixing.

GUITARS

All electric guitar parts were recorded DI using an American Fender Stratocaster Eric Johnson signature model with a .46 mm Dunlop USA Nylon pick. Acoustic guitar used was a Cort Acoustic Guitar Standard.

BASS

All bass parts were recorded using an Ibanez Soundgear Gio bass with flatwound strings.

DRUMS & PERCUSSION

Drums were recorded using a Premier Artist Maple Kit with Remo Emperor Coated heads. Donut O's were used on the toms, and a Big Fat Snare Drum was placed on the snare for sound shaping.

Cymbals:

- Ride: Sabian Hand Hammered HH Raw Bell
- Hi-hat and crash cymbals are vintage and no longer identifiable.

Drum parts were played using Vic Firth American Classic 5A sticks. Cymbal swells were recorded separately using Promark MT3 Multipurpose sticks. Additional percussion was recorded using real-life shakers and tambourines.

SYNTH

Most synth parts were recorded with an Alesis Micron using presets including: Dream Pad, Eight Strings, Ensemble, Fat 2 Compose, Silky Very Silky, Hood Bass, and various presets from the SFX Sound Bank. Select parts were recorded using a Casio Casiotone MT-40.

FOUND SOUNDS

Various unconventional sounds were recorded and used throughout the album, including:

- Theremin
- Sandpaper
- Striking a sword with a hammer
- My basement boiler dramatically shutting off
- Jingle bells
- Toy cars “zooming”
- Radio static from a vintage Sharp AM/FM Radio cassette tape player

MICROPHONES

Drums were recorded primarily using an Audix 5-Piece Drum Recording Kit, used to spot mic the kick, rack tom, floor tom, and overheads for ride and crash cymbals.

The snare drum was recorded using two Shure SM57 microphones: one on top and one on bottom.

An AKG C414 XLS condenser microphone was used for vocals, percussion, shoulder mic for drums, and various sound effects.

RECORDING SETUP

Instruments and vocals were recorded through a Universal Audio Apollo Twin interface.

Drum spot mics were recorded using a Focusrite Scarlett interface.

The album was recorded and produced using Logic Pro.

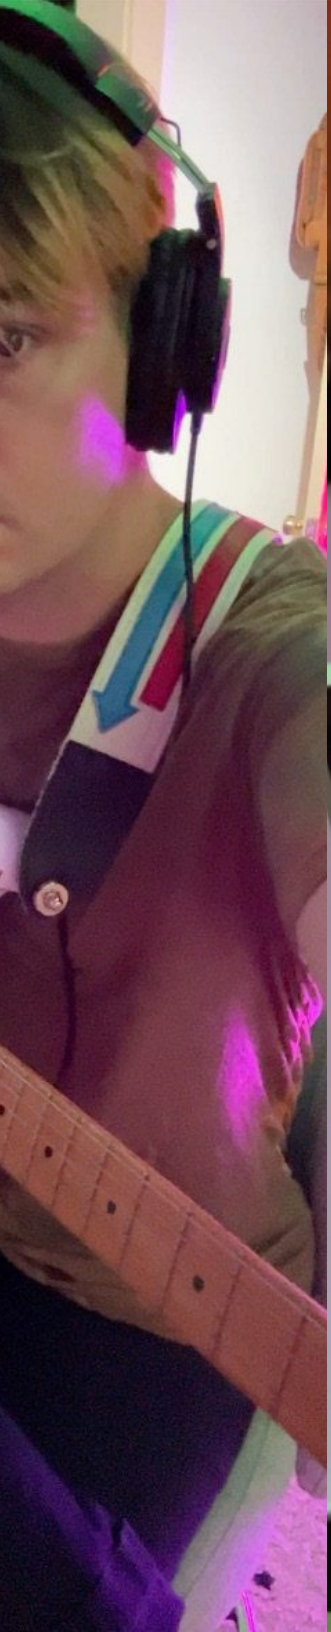

THE DARKSOFT AUDIO LAB

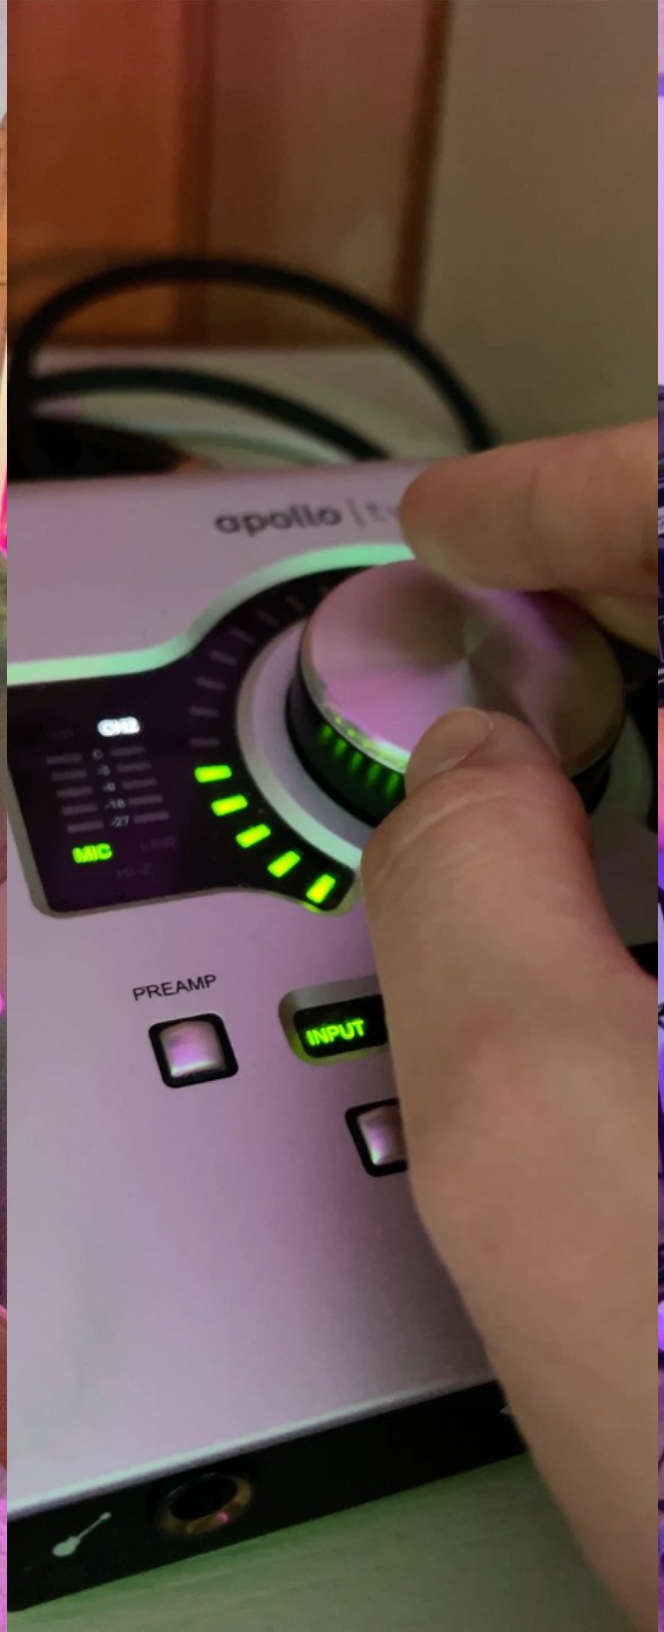

RTM GTR 1#18.8
RTM GTR 2#13.6
RTM GTR 3#14.6
RTM GTR 4#02.7
RTM GTR 4#03.4
ALT PICKY GTR#01.33
ALT PICKY GTR#01.3
PICKY GTR 2#12.33
PICKY GTR 2#12.34

apollo
MIC
PREAMP
INPUT

REC

MUSIC VIDEO NOTES
DIY PRACTICAL EFFECTS

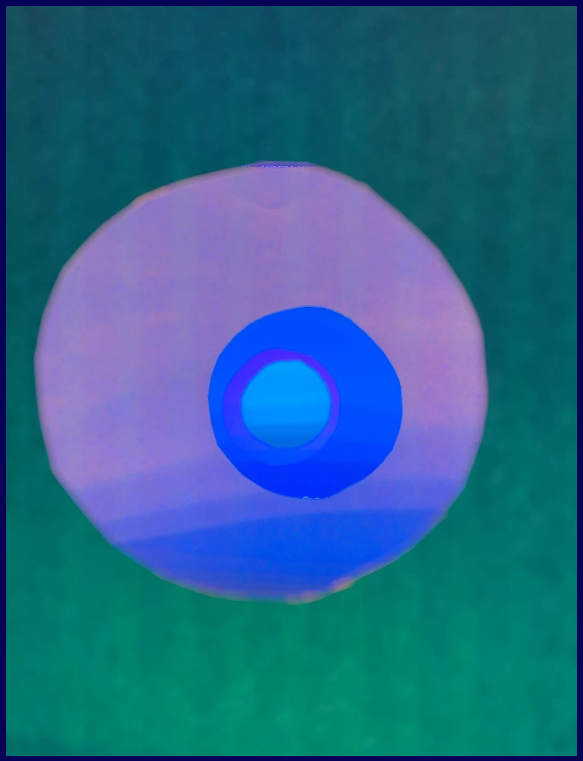

I handmade all the music videos that accompany the Everydayness release at home. I figured I'd share a little behind-the-scenes about my music video-making process.

For my music videos, I try to use practical effects as much as possible. These often involve multi-colored LEDs, close-range shots, and a lot of overlaying with opacity filters in post-production.

Hardware used:

- Panasonic VHS camcorder
- Nikon Coolpix digital camera
- Gaming computer for editing
- Adobe Premiere

REC

SPEND YOUR DAYS
THE INFINITY ORB

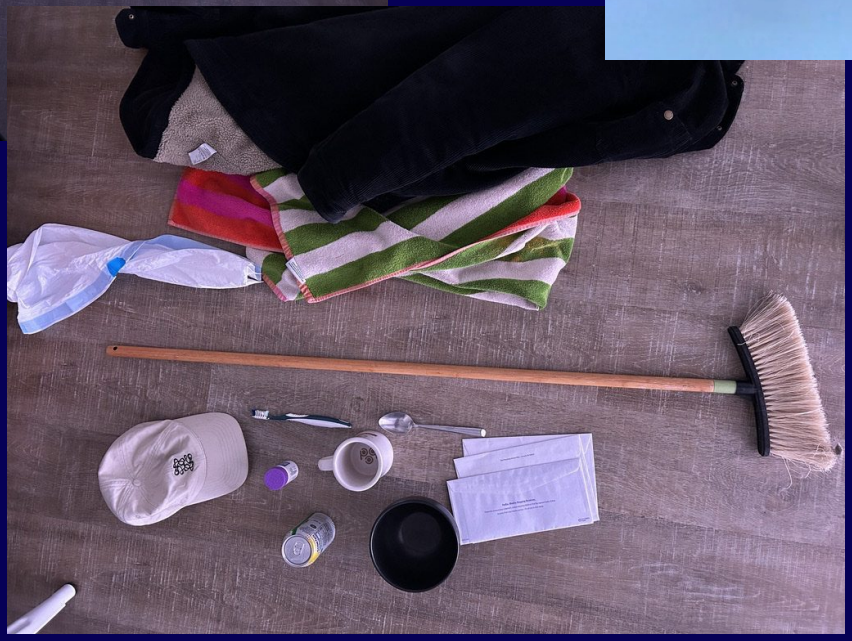

To get a natural-looking sun effect in “Spend Your Days,” I created a lightbox with concentric circles cut out and LED lights placed between each circle.

I set the LED lights to fade to colors at random, then filmed looking directly into these concentric rings. When filmed blurred, the effect is a trippy glowing orb.

I’ve used a similar technique in a few times in other videos in the past too.

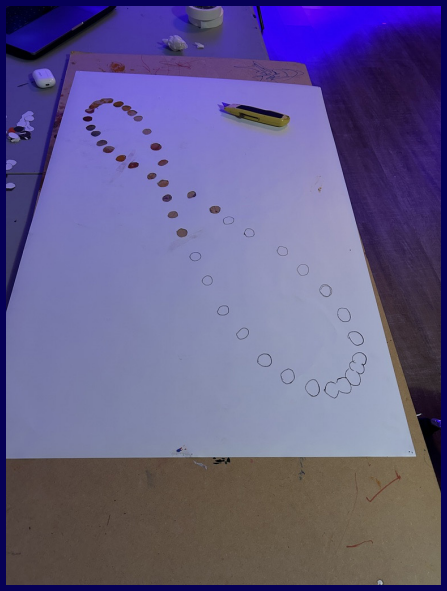

REC

TOO LITTLE TOO LATE
THE ENDLESS WALK

I plotted out a path on the floor and walked from right to left doing many everyday things – eating cereal, brushing my teeth, having a drink, taking a call, doomscrolling, computing, and more, using boring props from around the house.

I then overlaid the cuts so that one version of me would enter the frame as another exited, creating an uncanny, continuous loop.

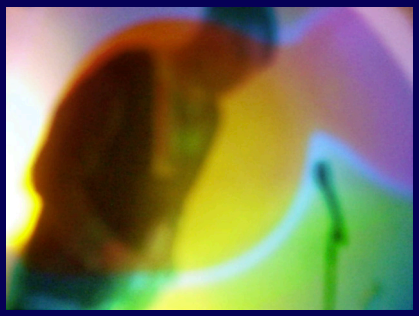

REC

CONSTANT CHANGE
THE CIRCLING LIGHTS

For this one, I really wanted to animate the analemma symbol from the album cover using practical effects. I projected the symbol onto an old poster, traced it, and cut out the orbs.

Then I set up a backdrop and backlit it. I also turned off the lights and used a flashlight behind the design, tracing the infinity loop. I overlaid many shots and also recorded myself “playing” some of the parts.

MENU
OK
Nikon

REC

AS ABOVE SO BELOW
THE SPHERE SHOT

For this one, I wanted to shoot into sphere to get that fishbowl effect. But I immediately realized there is no “safe angle” – a sphere reflects everything: the ceiling, walls, floor, and camera.

So instead I zoomed in extremely close into the reflection on the sphere to isolate reflections and capture fragments of the environment. The result was some cool usable shots.

I then overlayed some psychedelic visuals from a display that I have on repeat in my studio.

THE DARKSOFT
VIDEO LAB

Thanks for spending some time with Everydayness.

SUPPORT THE PROJECT

PLEASE, ANYTHING HELPS!

If you enjoyed the album, there are a few ways to support:

🎧 Stream the album on all major platforms

💿 Download the album in lossless quality on Bandcamp
https://darks0ft.bandcamp.com/album/everydayness

📀 Vinyl and CD editions available worldwide via Elastic Stage
https://elasticstage.com/darksoft/releases/everydayness-album

👕 Darksoft shirts and hats available worldwide
https://darksoft.printful.me/

💵 Make a donation
https://buymeacoffee.com/darksoft

VINYL & CD
AVAILABLE NOW

High quality vinyl and CD ship worldwide via Elastic Stage

https://elasticstage.com/darksoft/releases/everydayness-album

OFFICIAL DARKSOFT MERCH

On-demand via my Printful shop

https://darksoft.printful.me/

DIGITAL DOWNLOAD ON BANDCAMP

Purchase Everydayness at the highest quality fidelity — 24-bit/44.1kHz.
ONLY AVAILABLE ON BANDCAMP

https://darks0ft.bandcamp.com/album/everydayness

SEE A SHOW
GET IRL

Keep an eye out for tour dates and such. Subscribe here:

https://www.darksoft.band

THANK YOU FOR LISTENING

IT'S BEEN COOL

Enjoy your everydayness

Now onto Ultraview (2027)